A DAY DEVOTED TO ART IN INTERIORS

Join House & Garden at Design Centre, Chelsea Harbour on Wednesday, October 4, 9.30am-3pm, for a day devoted to the role of art in interiors. At the forefront of the international interior design industry for nearly 20 years, Veere Grenney, who will start the morning session, is a master of contrasts, marrying the humble with the grand and modernity with classicism, using art as a key element of inspiration. House & Garden arts editor Emily Tobin will then host a panel discussion with Frances Christie, head of modern and post-war British art at Sotheby's, and Francis Sultana, who set up his eponymous studio in 2009 and creates interiors for art collectors worldwide. Francis is also a major collector and CEO of David Gill Gallery. They will discuss selecting, valuing and buying art. After a break for lunch, House & Garden decoration director Gabby Deeming will talk about styling, lighting, grouping and displaying art with renowned design duo Eleanora Cunietti and Audrey Carden of Carden Cunietti. Tickets cost £15 and include morning coffee, with time allowed to visit the showrooms at Design Centre, Chelsea Harbour. To book, call 020-7352 1900, email enquiries@dch.co.uk or visit dch.co.uk.

Save 15 per cent at Heal's

The autumn/winter 2017 collection at Heal's is impressive, from minimalist, Scandinavian 'Morten' whitewashed oak furniture, to the new velvet-covered 'Balmoral' bed. Shop online or in store on September 1-24, using the code HGSEP15, to receive 15 per cent off full-price items. See opposite page for details and terms. heals.com

The arrangement of furniture in this room accentuates the symmetry created by having windows on both sides of the chimneypiece. The chandelier is by Cox London (coxlondon.com). DESIGNER VEERE GRENNY ASSOCIATES VEEREGRENNY.COM

The same kind of elm boards as those used for the floor were applied to the walls of this little sitting room. To prevent the effect being too slick, they have been treated with a gentle wash. DESIGNER CAROLINE HOLDAWAY CAROLINEHOLDAWAY.COM

The large windows of this orangery help blur the lines between inside and out, as do the trailing vines that hang from above. With its sky blue walls and bold fabrics, it feels rather more exotic than its Warwickshire location.

This Cornish sitting room hints at its seaside-meets-countryside location with its linen-covered scallop-back chair and Dinesen oak floors (dinesen.com). DESIGNER MARION LICHTIG MARIONLICHTIG.COM ARCHITECT MACKENZIE WHEELER MACKENZIEWHEELER.COM ▷

- simple sage -

The sage and white colour palette of this elegant bedroom gives it a light and airy feel. The trim on the pelmet defines its shape and picks up the colour of the 'Aurora' linen by Paolo Moschino for Nicholas Haslam (nicholashaslam.com), used on the armchair and bed. The rug is 'Bo Stonewash' by Luke Irwin (lukeirwin.com). DESIGNER VEERE GRENNY ASSOCIATES VEEREGRENNY.COM ▷

COUNTRY HOUSE

There is plenty to delight the eye here, from the skirted basin to the way the grey and white enamel of the bath is repeated on the walls. Farrow & Ball's 'Strong White' has similar grey undertones; £43.50 for 2.5 litres of emulsion (farrow-ball.com).

A painted blue stripe runs along the top of this room to add interest to a white wall. It is a simple – and incredibly effective – idea. Grosgrain ribbon can also be used for this purpose. DESIGNER CASAMIDY CASAMIDY.COM

While the low beams are not ideal for little ones who jump on beds, this room is a lesson in embracing the architecture of an old (in this case, Tudor) building. The textiles include a vintage Swedish flatweave rug from Foster & Gane (fosterandgane.com) and 'Kiosk' linen by Veere Grenney on the bench.

Marine teak gratings are an unusual alternative to tiled flooring, but are ideal for wet rooms. The 'rib cage' shower is an original Twenties piece, but Catchpole & Rye's 'La Cage' is a good modern version (catchpoleandrye.com). ▷
